Blindness. Low Vision. Opportunity.

Eye trouble? We can help.

Do you have trouble reading even while you are wearing your glasses? Are you bumping into things because you don't see them?

If you think your eyesight is getting worse then Vision Australia can help.

Vision Australia is the leading national provider of vision loss services. Helping you feel comfortable talking about your eyesight is a big part of our service. The first step is to spend time with your local Vision Australia person so they can learn what's important to you. With your permission, together we can work out what services will help you to do the things you want.

Everything you say to us is confidential

You will only need to tell us your story once and we will always make sure that everything you say is kept private. Your Vision Australia person will provide support according to your wishes, so you can keep doing the things that are important to you.

Where you can get our services

You can get the services you need in your community, at home or at one of our 28 offices around Australia. We may also provide our services in partnership with other service providers.

How you will benefit

Our specialists can help you make the best of your vision. This includes:

- Learning easier ways to do daily tasks at home
- Getting around in your community
- Enjoying TV shows and movies
- Gaining skills to be successful in your studies and working life
- Using phones and computers
- Meeting people who are blind or have low vision

Help paying

You can get different kinds of help to pay for our services including Medicare, the National Disability Insurance Scheme (NDIS), Department of Veterans Affairs (DVA), My Aged Care, and Better Start (for children up to seven years old).
